

CRIMINAL LAW SERVICES

LAO's criminal law services include in-court duty counsel, which are lawyers who can give immediate legal assistance to low-income people appearing in court without a lawyer. Other services include up to 20 minutes of summary legal advice from a lawyer, legal representation by a private lawyer, or a referral to our online legal website, LawFacts.ca.

POVERTY LAW SERVICES

Community legal clinics can help with basic needs such as housing, health care and employment. Available services vary according to each clinic's resources. Some of the legal matters that clinics cover include:

- social assistance matters and appeals for Ontario Works and Ontario Disability Support Program matters
- Employment Insurance appeals
- workplace safety
- appeals at the Workplace Safety and Insurance Board
- assistance with housing matters that may include representation at the Landlord and Tenant Board
- Canada Pension Plan appeals or issues

Some clinics provide help in other areas of law, depending on local needs.

NEED LEGAL HELP
BUT CAN'T AFFORD IT?

LEGAL AID ONTARIO CAN HELP

We provide legal services for financially eligible, low-income Ontarians in the following areas:

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

FAMILY LAW

IMMIGRATION AND REFUGEE LAW

CRIMINAL LAW

POVERTY LAW

LEGAL AID ONTARIO CAN HELP

Every day, Legal Aid Ontario helps almost 4,000 disadvantaged people including single parents seeking child support from delinquent ex-partners; victims of domestic violence; parents seeking custody of children to protect them from abuse; refugees; injured workers; and accused persons.

LEGAL AID SERVICES

IN COURT. Duty counsel are lawyers who can quickly assess a client's legal problems and provide advice, information and representation to someone who would otherwise be unrepresented and unassisted in the courtroom. Clients can also speak with lawyers at Family Law Information Centres—located in most family courts—to get free general legal advice on family law issues and get help with reviewing legal documents.

OVER THE PHONE. Toll-free services include information, referral, legal aid applications and advice from a lawyer.

REPRESENTATION BY A PRIVATE LAWYER. Financially eligible clients with legal matters covered by LAO may be able to apply for a certificate, which covers the cost of a lawyer for a certain number of hours.

LEGAL SERVICES ELIGIBILITY

LAO will provide you with the services best suited to your legal matter. To receive assistance, you must qualify financially and your legal matter must be covered by LAO.

For the most serious legal matters, LAO may offer full representation through its certificate program. In some cases, you may have to repay some or all of your legal fees. Please note that you must qualify under a separate financial eligibility test for this program.

SERVICES FOR DOMESTIC VIOLENCE VICTIMS

Need a lawyer but can't afford one? LAO provides access to a lawyer who can help you with legal matters such as:

- how to get a restraining order
- how to proceed with a separation or a divorce
- whether you have the right to take your children if you leave home
- how to change a social assistance cheque to your own name
- how to evict your partner or recover your belongings
- deportation, sponsorship breakdown and/or severing a refugee claim from your partner's claim

FAMILY MATTERS

Are you separating from your partner? Do you need help with child custody or access and support payments? Are you considering using mediation? Help with documents, referrals to advice lawyers and other social service agencies, and in some cases, representation by a family lawyer is available at a family law service centre.

Clients can also speak with lawyers at family law information centres—located in most family court—to get free general legal advice on family law issues and get help with reviewing legal documents.
