Articling Fellowship Job Posting

The Algoma Community Legal Clinic (ACLC) is a community based legal clinic that provides legal services to low income individuals/families in the District of Algoma. The ACLC is funded by Legal Aid Ontario, governed by a Board of Directors drawn from the community, and located at the hub of the Great Lakes, on the traditional territories of the Anishinaabek and Métis People. This position has been made available through The Law Foundation of Ontario Public Interest Articling Fellowship Program. We are seeking an Articling Student for the 2027-28 articling term for a 10 month period.

We serve low income clients particularly in the areas of Landlord/Tenant, Social Assistance (ODSP & OW), Canada Pension Plan Disability, Employment Law matters and Human Rights. Our work includes individual casework, advice, community outreach, and public legal education.

Under the direction and mentorship of the Executive Director and/or Manager of Legal Services, the Articling Fellow will:

- Undertake casework practiced by the Clinic with a focus on Indigenous community members
- Represent clients before administrative tribunals
- Participate in outreach initiatives including in First Nation Communities in our area
- Partner with other agencies to increase the Clinics capacity to meet the legal needs of the Indigenous communities both on reserves, rural and urban.
- Work with our First Thoughts Committee to continue the work of our TRC checklist

The successful Applicants will ideally have:

- An Indigenous background
- Experience with poverty law issues
- Relevant employment, educational and/or community volunteer experience
- A demonstrated interest in social justice work and community outreach
- Excellent research, writing and interpersonal skills
- Professional skills and ethics

Members from the designated groups (Women, Indigenous Peoples, Visible Minorities, and Persons with Disabilities) are encouraged to apply and self-identify.

Salary is $69,878 plus benefits which includes licensing process fees, a health benefit package, RRSP employer contributions and a stipend for continuing education - in accordance with funding provided by The Law Foundation Ontario.

Please provide a covering letter, resume and 2 references by email to Jacquie Godin, Manager of Administration at jacquie.godin@algo.clcj.ca. All email applications should be contained in one document and submitted by October 30, 2026. We thank all applicants for their interest. Only those selected for an interview will be contacted.
